MEETING 1: Introductory Call

CET257 Enterprise Project — Assignment 1, Task A3 — Team Speed | Lift Right

Date	16 July
Time	10:30 AM
Location	Phone call
Attendees	Shilu Chuke (Team Speed); Sulav G Raj (Client)

Meeting Purpose

First direct conversation with the client following the team's initial outreach email, to introduce the Lift Right concept and understand the client's own perspective on manual-handling and warehouse safety training.

Discussion Summary

Shilu introduced the team and explained the Lift Right concept: a browser-based, first-person 360° training simulation intended to replace static poster/PDF-based manual-handling induction with something interactive and scored. Sulav was asked for his own perspective and confirmed that current training methods at his site are generally seen as routine and easy to forget once workers are back on the floor. Sulav shared some operational context from his side, which Shilu noted down to bring back to the wider team.

Client Feedback

- Confirmed that existing manual-handling training (posters, PDFs, briefings) does not stick with staff, supporting the problem the project is trying to solve.
- Shared general operational context about his site, to be taken into account when the team firms up requirements.

Agreed Actions

- Team to take the client's feedback into account when developing the requirements further.
- A follow-up meeting was agreed to review the team's requirement analysis once it had progressed.
